5. The Regulations are made available to the Participants on the Conference Website kms.confer.uj.edu.pl (hereinafter referred to as the 'Conference Website'), in Polish and English language versions, in a downloadable format.
6. The Organizer reserves the right to amend the Regulations – in particular due to a change in generally applicable law orders or prohibitions related to the introduction of the state of pandemic and the need to adapt the Regulations to this change – change the Conference program and increase the security measures accompanying the Conference.
7. The amendment to the Regulations will come into force within 7 days upon their publication on the Conference Site. With regard to Participants who have accepted the Regulations prior to the change, the change will come into effect within 7 days of them being informed of the change to the Regulations by email or not objecting to the change within the aforementioned period.
8. The Organiser reserves the right to amend the Regulations also in the case of an amendment to the Regulations which does not adversely affect the rights of the Participants or an amendment consisting in the correction of obvious clerical errors and editorial mistakes. In such a case, the amendment to the Regulations may become effective within a period shorter than 7 days, but no shorter than 3 days from informing the Participants of the amendment to the Regulations by email and the Participants failing to object to the amendment within the aforementioned period.

9. The Organiser reserves the right to change the date and the format of the Conference in a situation where the holding of the Conference in the date and format referred to in section 1 above will be impossible or excessively difficult for reasons beyond the Organiser's control, in particular due to restrictions, orders and bans related to the introduction of a pandemic. The change of the date and/or formula of the Conference will be immediately announced on the Conference Website.
10. The Organiser reserves the right to cancel the Conference and to amend the programme of the Conference, including the right to change the time schedule and the order of speeches. In case of any changes, the Organiser will immediately inform about it on the Conference Website. A change to the programme of the Conference does not constitute a change to the Regulations.

Registration of participation in the Conference

1. Participation in the Conference requires prior registration through a registration form (hereinafter referred to as the 'Registration Form'), available at the Conference Website, in which a person wishing to participate in the Conference will be required to provide the following data: first and last name, e-mail address, affiliation, pronouns. Participants are required to pay the registration fee (hereinafter referred to as the 'Registration Fee').

3. The course of the Conference may be recorded in the form of a photo report (hereinafter: 'Photo Report') and an audio-video recording (hereinafter: 'Recording'). The Organiser will make the Recording available to an unlimited audience until further notice on the official websites of the Conference and the Jagiellonian University.
4. When making the conference materials (hereinafter referred to as the 'Conference Materials') available to Participants, the Conference Organiser pays particular attention to the need for Participants to respect intellectual property rights. Participants undertake to use the Conference Materials made available to them by the Organiser exclusively for their own personal use. Modification, copying, transmission, public reproduction and any commercial use of these Conference Materials requires the prior written consent of the Organiser or any other authorised entity. Participants shall be held fully responsible for any damage caused by their behaviour contrary to the above stipulation.

5. Participants accept the established rules of the Conference and its programme and undertake not to alter or disrupt the Conference. The Organiser is entitled to exclude from participation in the Conference Participants who violate the provisions of the Regulations, and in particular:
    a. disrupt the course of the Conference;
    b. take actions that are unlawful, immoral or in conflict with the legitimate interests of third parties;
    c. take actions aimed at circumventing or indicating an attempt to circumvent the Regulations or the principles of holding the Conference;
    d. take actions that violate the Organiser's legitimate interests or harm its image.

Rights and obligations of participants

1. Upon arrival at the Conference venue, Participants are obliged to confirm their personal participation in the Conference at the reception desk in the building of the Institute of Sociology, 52 Grodzka Street, Kraków.
2. Participants are obliged to comply with the safety rules, health and safety, security and fire regulations in force at the premises where the Conference is organised, and follow the instructions issued by the Conference staff or services responsible for security and order in this respect, as well as sanitary regime in force at that time.
3. The Organiser shall not be held liable for any items left and lost during the Conference and/or the Screening, or for items left in clothing or backpacks/bags/suitcases, or in other public places on the premises of the Conference, the Jagiellonian University, or in the building where the Sessions will be held.
4. In the event of a Participant disturbing public order and failing to comply with the sanitary regime in force on the day of the Conference, Conference staff are entitled to:
    a. call on the Participant to behave appropriately;
    b. require the Participant to leave the Conference area;
    c. summon the appropriate services in a situation where the Participant's behaviour qualifies for such intervention, including in particular when it poses a threat to other Participants or the Conference staff or the Organiser's property.
5. The Organizer shall not be liable for events arising from the failure of Participants to comply with the Regulations, recommendations of the Organizer and the orders of the Conference staff and services responsible for security and order.

6. In order to ensure security on the Conference premises, the Organiser may use CCTV covering the entire Conference area as well as specific parts of it. The rules for the use of CCTV by the Organiser are set out in the Jagiellonian University Rector's Order No. 34 of 16 May 2019 on: Regulations for Video Monitoring at the Jagiellonian University, as amended, available in the Jagiellonian University Public Information Bulletin.
7. If a Participant identifies a threat to the life and health of the Participant, they are obliged to immediately inform the Conference staff about it.

Papers

1. By registering for the Conference via Registration Form a Participant notifies the Organiser of their wish to present a paper (hereinafter referred to as the 'Paper'). Submissions shall be accepted until 23.02.2025, 23:59.
2. A Participant who has applied to present the Paper shall, by 23.02.2025, 23:59 at the latest, send to the Organiser via a form in Microsoft Forms, in the form of a digital text file, an original abstract of the Paper they intend to present during the Conference (hereinafter referred to as the 'Abstract'). By 07.03.2025 at the latest, the Scientific Council will select the speakers (hereinafter referred to as 'Speakers') on the basis of the submitted Abstracts and will immediately inform the Participants whose Abstracts have been qualified about the positive result of this qualification by sending them a return e-mail no later than 07.03.2025. Further contact to determine the details of the Speaker's presentation will be made as agreed between the Speaker and the Organiser.
3. In making the decisions referred to in paragraph 2 above, the Scientific Council shall be guided at its own discretion and the need to ensure a high scientific level and thematic diversity of the Conference. The decision of the Scientific Council is final and does not require justification. Participants are not entitled to appeal against it. Failure to meet the conditions outlined in the Call for Papers is grounds for rejection of the abstract. Submission of an Abstract of a Paper presented at another conference is also grounds for rejection.
4. The Participant's undertaking of the activities referred to in paragraphs 1-3 above shall constitute the granting to the Organiser of a non-exclusive, time-, territory-, quantity- and quality-limited licence to use the Abstract, to the extent and in the fields of exploitation referred to in § 6, paragraphs 5-7 of the Regulations, with the right to grant a sub-licence to third parties in a scope analogous to the scope of the licence, for the purposes of making a decision on qualifying the Participant as a Speaker, preparing, organising, holding and financially settling the Conference, developing the Conference Materials, including the book of abstracts. The provisions of § 6, paragraphs 1-3 and 8-9 of the Regulations shall apply accordingly to the Abstract.

5. The presentation of the Paper, as well as granting the Organiser the permissions, authorisations and licences referred to in § 5-7 of the Regulations to use the Abstract, the Paper and the Speaker's image, to the extent and in all the field indicated therein, shall be free of charge and shall be used for the Organiser's statutory purposes, subject to separate agreements concluded with the Speaker.
6. Granting the Organiser the permissions, licences and authorisations referred to in § 5-7 of the Regulations is voluntary, but necessary for the presentation of the Paper.

Copyright

1. The Speaker is fully responsible for the form and content of the Paper.
2. The Speaker undertakes to develop and present an original Paper and guarantees that the Paper will not violate the personal rights and interests of third parties, contain theses and views advocating hatred or discrimination against any person on the grounds of race, culture, ethnicity, religion, worldview, gender or sexual orientation. Moreover, it is unacceptable to promote in the content of the Paper any ideology or symbolism associated with totalitarian systems, as well as to present any other subject matter prohibited by generally applicable regulations or to violate the good name of the Organiser.
3. If any part of the Paper consists of elements protected by law, the rights to which will not be vested in the Speaker, the Speaker warrants that they are entitled to use them to the extent necessary to present the Paper and to grant the Organiser a Licence with the right to grant sub-licences referred to in this paragraph, without the need for the Organiser to obtain additional consents and permissions.
4. The Speaker agrees that the Organiser or an entity acting on its behalf may document the Paper in the form of a Recording.
5. The Speaker grants the Organiser a non-exclusive, time- and territory-limited, quantitative and qualitative licence, with the right to grant a sub-licence of the same scope as the licence, to use the Paper - including the one documented in the form of the Recording in its entirety or in part, individually, as well as within a collective work, in combination with works and elements freely selected by the Organiser (among others, with the papers of other Speakers, image and sound, including within the so-called Conference Materials), as well as its elaborations, adaptations and all materials, graphics, fragments, shots, documentation created both during the recording of the Recording and after its recording for informational, documentary, educational, didactic, advertising and promotional purposes of the Organiser and the Conference itself, including, in particular, its use, sharing on the Internet, Intranet, as well as within any telecommunication services using any systems and devices, on any social networking sites of the Organizer, on the Conference Website and other websites of the Organizer and on the Conference Website.

6. The licence referred to in paragraph 5 above (hereinafter referred to as the 'Licence') shall be granted to the Organiser upon the recording of the Speaker's speech in the form of a Recording and shall cover the use of the Paper in the following fields of utilization:
    a. recording and reproducing the Paper - producing copies of the Paper using all available techniques, including printing, reprography, magnetic recording and digital techniques (including DVD, magneto-optical media);
    b. permanent or temporary reproduction of the Paper in whole or in part by any means and in any form;
    c. as regards distribution of the Paper - public performance, exhibition, display, reproduction, broadcasting and re-broadcasting, as well as making the Paper available to the public in such a way that everyone can access it from a place and at a time of their own choosing, using all available techniques, including use on the Internet, Intranet and other computer networks, posting and modifying the Paper on websites, social media, broadcasting the Paper using multimedia and ICT networks, modifying the Paper so that it can be navigated on websites, making it available to the public on exhibitions or displays;
    d. within the scope of trading in the original or copies on which the Paper has been recorded - placing on the market, lending or renting the original or copies;
    e. creation and distribution of derivative works of the Paper, including further designs/materials based on the Paper or their individual elements, including development of different graphic, colour or visual or spatial versions of the Paper and use of the derivative works so created to the extent and in all fields of exploitation specified in this paragraph;
    f. re-broadcasting, dissemination in the press, on the Internet, on large-format posters and in any other form of promotion or advertising;
    g. to modify the Paper in its entirety or in part and to carry out elaborations of it in its entirety or in part, including, but not limited to, the right to correct, make alterations and changes to the entire Paper or to its individual elements;
    h. the right to freely use and exploit the Paper and its individual elements, including the use of the Paper and its individual elements for purposes of advertising, promotion, office, marking of goods, products, services, including their use as registered or unregistered trademarks, logos or their elements, use as a name/company name, entrepreneur or business activity, use of the Paper and its individual elements in the scope of advertising and promotion of the Organiser or the activity conducted by the University in the country and abroad,

7. The licence shall also include the right for the Organiser and persons acting on its behalf to exercise the Organiser's derivative rights to the Paper in all fields of exploitation referred to in items 5-6 above, including in particular the right to make changes to the Paper and to develop it, to use and dispose of derivative works, and the right to allow third parties to exercise derivative copyrights in the Paper of a scope analogous to that used by the Organiser.
8. The Speaker undertakes not to exercise in relation to the Organiser and entities authorised by the Organiser their moral rights to the Paper, in particular the right to the inviolability of the content and form of the Paper and its fair use, to decide whether the Paper is made available to the public for the first time, to supervise the use of the Paper and to decide how the author of the Paper is to be identified and, with the proviso that the Organiser shall, at the request of the Speaker and as far as possible, respect the Speaker's wish to be identified as the person presenting the Paper.
9. In the event that claims are made by third parties against the Organiser and/or those acting on its behalf and/or those authorised by it to use the Paper and/or the Abstract (hereinafter referred to as the 'Authorised Entities'), having to do with the Paper and/or the Abstract or individual elements thereof, the Speaker:
    a. shall indemnify the Organiser and/or the eligible entities from the claims in question to the extent to which they were obliged to acquire from third parties the rights to the legally protected elements of the Paper and/or the Abstract, including the copyright and related rights therein and their individual elements, and to obtain from them the permissions and authorisations referred to in this paragraph and
    b. shall be fully liable for any and all damages incurred by the Organiser and/or entities entitled to make claims against them as referred to in a) above, including primarily, but not exclusively, damages relating to a claim for compensation for the unlawful use of the Paper and/or the Abstract or the unlawful use of their individual elements.
